

Applications Specialist - Shanghai China – ACS International

ACS International, Ltd. is a wholly owned division of the American Chemical Society. ACSI is comprised of staff that serves the scientific community worldwide. Employees represent products and services provided by the American Chemical Society and Chemical Abstracts Service (such as SciFinder and STN) to the world's most important scientific companies, organizations, government and academic institutions to promote research and discovery.

ACS International is currently seeking an Applications Specialist based in Shanghai China.

This position prepares and presents instructional materials in various media for technical training events for user meetings, technical conferences, on site customer visits, customer meetings via teleconference, and the virtual online product laboratory. Incumbents collaborate with Marketing staff to develop the business, gather market intelligence, and communicate customer needs to assist in formulating future strategies, defining market segments, and shaping the product and service portfolio.

Requirements:

- Master's Degree in Chemistry or related field. Advanced degree is highly preferred.
- 5+ years' experience.
- Ability to develop and design training customized materials to meet customer needs.
- Strong presentation skills and ability to communicate and answer questions about product content and relevant chemical information.
- Ability to develop and execute project plans and meet deadlines under tight timeframes.
- Strong communication and interpersonal skills.
- Strong written and spoken English and Chinese.
- Willing to travel 50-75% of the time in Mainland China.
- IT savvy is preferred.

To apply for a position, please submit your cover letter and CV to careers@acsi.info.